NEWS RELEASE

FROM: Dusty Rhodes (513-946-4047)
Hamilton County Auditor

RHODES SAYS TAX LEVY ESTIMATES NOW ON WEBSITE

Hamilton County's November ballot will include twenty-eight (28) proposed new or renewing property tax levies. Besides two county-wide renewals for Family Services and Developmental Disabilities levies, there are twelve (12) municipalities with proposed levies (North Bend has two(2)); one township (Miami) with two (2); and ten (10) school districts with levies.

The Finneytown School District has two (2) additional levies and the Loveland School District has three (3) additional levies.

"Since 2000 we have posted this specific information for every levy-affected property on our website, www.hamiltoncountyauditor.org," said Rhodes. "I urge all property owners to check for estimates individual levy costs before voting. Access property information for a parcel on the website and then click on "Levy Information" on the right side column to see proposed levies in a specific taxing district," he added.

Rhodes also issued a summary of all proposed levies including the estimated cost for an owner-occupied residence currently valued at $100,000.
